Football

Juniors vs. Seniors

The first junior senior contest of the season opened at 2 p. m. Monday, Oct. 22. The crowd waited expectantly for the whistle that would send 22 young bloods tearing at each other with might and main. Both teams made a good showing as they lined up for the kickoff every man filling his respective position. The Seniors lined up as follows: Q, Wadsworth; rh, W. B. Horner; lb, T. Rippley; f, Burke, re, Woodland; rt, Tippins; rg, Kriess; c, Larkin; lg, MacElroy; lt, Sheldon; le, Pattison.

The Juniors lined up as follows: Q, Goodwin; rhb, Wetart; lhb, W. Thomas; f, Harris; re, Harding; rt, Miller; rg, Crucius; c, Cameron; lg, J. Murry; lt, Hogaboom; le, Bill Horner.

Wheel Up she goes! With a dull thud of shoe against pigskin, the ball sailed high up into the air toward the Junior goal. The ball was caught on the 30 yard line and ran back for six yards. The next two plays made but slight gain but on the third play Goodwin, the Junior quarterback, carried the ball from his own 36 yard line to the 58 yard line for a first down.

The next two plays failed to gain ground and on the third play Pattison, the Senior left end was knocked out but was able to resume his playing after time out. The Juniors lost the ball on downs.

The Seniors then had their try at bucking the junior line. Burke, the senior fullback made but 2 yards in his first play and on the next a pass was intercepted by Wetart, the junior halfback, who managed to tear off 10 yards to his credit before being downed. Thomas then carried the ball five yards. The Juniors failed to gain ground on the next play and lost the ball on downs to the seniors.

W. B. Horner, the senior halfback, went through for a 5 yard gain and on the next play the upperclassmen made a 38 yard gain. The ball was fumbled by Wadsworth who lost 10 yards on the play but recovered the ball for the Seniors. The Seniors kicked and Goodwin catching the ball on his own 31 yard line ran it back to the 55 yard line. On the next play the ball was fumbled but recovered outside on the 48 yard line. In this play Woodland, the Senior right half, was slightly hurt. The first half ended in a scoreless tie.

During the second half of the game, the ball went from side to side, first in the hands of the Seniors then Junior, both teams fighting fiercely for the supremacy. Toward the end of the third quarter the Juniors, by dint of hard fighting, managed to bring the ball to within 4 yards of the senior goal but failed to make the distance, losing the ball on downs.

The Seniors fought their way up the field again, foot by foot, only to lose the ball again near the center of the field.

The Juniors, by means of end runs and trick plays brought the ball well down toward the senior goal line once more only to lose it on downs again with but two minutes to play.

The excitement of the crowd was intense for it surely looked as though the game would end in a scoreless tie. Finally someone shouted from the side lines "Come on there, Seniors, do the Red Grange Act."

It seemed as though the Senior backfield was waiting for just that command for the ball was snapped into play again with one minute to go. Then the unexpected happened, it seemed as though some exceptional play was anticipated for the crowd was on its toes as Horner, the Senior halfback, receiving the ball stepped back for a long pass from his own 3-yard line.

The whole junior team plunged through as one man, but too late, the ball whistled through the air straight into the waiting arms of Wadsworth, the Senior quarterback, who had run around left end to receive it. Woodland's fine interference enabled Wadsworth to get away on a flying start and he streaked it down the field carrying the ball from his own 55 yard line for a touchdown. The pass for goal was incomplete and before the ball could be brought into play again the whistle blew ending the game. Score: Seniors 6, Juniors 0.

Freshmen vs. Sophomores.
Freshmen—Q, Niebur; rhb, Warner; lhb, Jones; f, Allen; re, Hopper; rt, Ives; rg, Demarest; c, Burkholder; lt, Obits; lt, Wright; le, Logan.
Sophomores—Q, Ellenwood; rhb, J. W. Logan; lhb, Miles; f, Ray; re, Howe; rt, Lord; rg, Woudy; c, Gottschalk; lg, Hope; lt, Pratt; Chambers; le, Wilcox.

The game opened with Freshmen kicking off to the Sophs, who caught the ball on their 40-yard line and ran it back 15 yards before being downed. Failing to gain ground enough in the next three tries the Sophs lost the ball on downs to the Freshmen on their own 28 yard line.

The Freshies snapped the ball into play with vigor that set the spectators on their toes from the start. Allen, carrying the ball on the first play made 9 yards through left tackle. Time was called while Bishop, acting as waterboy for the Soph team ran out into the center of the field to give his shoelace to one of the Soph players, who was in sore distress for the want of a string to hold his slipper on.

Before the game went much further, it looked as though the Sophs might have to use that shoelace to tie the ball to their wrists to keep from losing it. The Freshies continued to gain ground steadily and although penalized 5 yards for off side, managed to get the ball within 4 yards of the Sophs goal line where they still held it when the whistle blew ending the first quarter.

On the first play of the second quarter the ball was brought to within one yard of the goal line. On the second try Allen, the Fresh fullback, crashed through center taking the ball over for the first touchdown. The pass for extra point failed, making the score 6 to 0 in favor of the Freshies. During the same quarter Jones took the ball over for another touchdown from the 14 yard line but a pass failed to score the extra point; score 12 to 0 with the Freshies on top.

In spite of the many penalties on both sides both teams played well but the Sophs were sadly lacking in the absence of their captain and star player Kides, who was on the sidelines but could not take part in the fray being hurt in last week's game. At the end of the first half the ball was in possession of the freshmen on the sophs 8-yard line.

The second half of the game saw the Sophs making a game fight but losing fight. They were outclassed by the heavier and swifter Freshmen team that scored again and again, the ball being carried long distances by Graves, who substituted for Allen at fullback in the second half. The final score ended 43-0 in favor of the Freshmen.

Coach Barger is well pleased with the showing that his teams made displaying the best brand of football seen on the gridiron this season.

Soccer

Juniors vs. Seniors

The third soccer game of the season between the upperclassmen started with a rush. During the first half the Seniors displayed some fast and snappy leg work and general good playing. The first break of the game came when Wallace playing for the Seniors made a fluke goal that resulted in the first score for the opposing team.

In the second half the Juniors displayed some fast accurate footwork. Chachis made a penalty kick scoring a goal and Berwick followed up a few minutes later with the third goal. The Seniors played a rather ragged game in the last few minutes of play, the game ending in favor of the Juniors 3 to 0.

Freshmen vs. Sophomores.
The Freshmen elated with their previous victory sailed into the Sophs and in the first half held a 2 to 1 score in their favor before the bewildered Sophs realized what it was all about. The point scored by the Sophs was a result of a fluke kick by Buffum of the Fresh team. Roberts tried for the goal on a penalty kick but failed to make good.

In the second half Pose of the Freshmen team scored a goal in the first three minutes of play. Warren and Fielding followed up shortly with two more goals for the Freshies. The ball was kept well in the Sophs territory during the greater part of the game and the final score being 7 to 1 in favor of the first year men.

Cross Country Run

Some sixty men lined up at the scratch line for the first cross country race of the year at 4.45, but only forty-six men crossed the tape. The order which they came in was as follows:

FIGHTING THE EUROPEAN CORN BORER

At the request of many readers we are herewith reprinting the practical control method recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Quite a number are cutting this out, mounting it upon cardboard and sticking it up in plain view where it can be constantly referred to and the items checked off.

1. Cut corn close to the ground and as early as possible.
2. Cut and remove sweet-corn fodder from the fields as soon as the ears are harvested. Feed direct to livestock, place in silo, or destroy by burning.
3. Cut and remove field-corn fodder as soon as the ears are mature. Feed the stalks to livestock as soon as possible and destroy the uneaten parts before May 1st, following. Shred or cut the fodder to increase its consumption.
4. Burn or otherwise destroy before May 1st, of each year all existing cornstalks, corncocks, corn-stubble and other crop remnants. These contain borers from the previous year.
5. In New England all crop remnants from vegetable and flower gardens should also be destroyed by burning or otherwise as well as all weeds and large stemmed grasses.
6. In all infested areas keep cultivated fields, fence rows, field borders, roadsides, etc., free from these weeds and large stemmed grasses by mowing or treating with a weed killer before they go to seed, or by burning either in the late fall, winter or very early spring.
7. Plow under thoroughly in the late autumn, to a depth of at least six inches, all infested cornstalks, corn stubble or other waste material which it is impracticable to destroy by methods previously mentioned.
8. Early planted corn is most likely to become infested whereas somewhat later planting usually results in less injury. On the other hand, very late plantings of sweet corn in two brooded areas are usually badly infested.
9. A small area of early planted sweet corn acts as a trap crop when situated adjacent to fields intended for growing field corn or late sweet corn. When such trap crops become infested they should be fed or otherwise destroyed as soon as the ears are harvested, or preferably just before that period. CAUTION: Such trap crop plantings destroyed at the proper time constitute a menace to later corn or other susceptible crops in the vicinity.
10. Native parasites or other natural enemies destroy only a small percent of the borers each year. They cannot, therefore, be relied upon to hold the pest in check. Foreign parasites have been introduced but several years will probably elapse before obtaining noticeable results.
11. It, therefore, becomes necessary for the individual to combat the borer by artificial and cultural methods as detailed above. Community effort is essential to success in this undertaking.
12. Your cooperation with the existing quarantines against the European Corn Borer is earnestly solicited. Bulletins giving a full treatise on the Corn Borer can be obtained from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Armistice Tenth Anniversary to be Duly Celebrated

Plans taking Shape to Make Occasion Worthy of Our Town — Selectmen Appoint a Representative Committee — An Effort to Revive Our Ideals.

As the date approaches for the observance of the 10th anniversary of the Armistice that ended the World War, plans are taking shape to celebrate this historic event with several functions worthy of our town. The selectmen appointed a representative committee last month to formulate plans. Dr. Richard Holton is chairman and with him are Mrs. E. S. Krause of South Vernon, Miss Mary Dalton, Miss Edith Steadler, Miles Morgan, A. A. Thresher and A. P. Fitt. The scope of the celebration includes Mount Hermon, South Vernon and Vernon.

The chief guests of honor will be the World War veterans in our midst. But all the patriotic orders are asked to help make the celebration a success. The program will begin on Friday, Nov. 9 with a Junior Anniversary Celebration in the town hall at 1.30 p. m. Children from all the township schools will be transported to this gathering. The hall will be decorated with flags and bunting. There will be singing, and Major Robert H. Wilder of Northfield Farms will give a short address. Miss Mary Dalton is chairman of a committee to work with Supt. Robbins in giving the young people a good time.

Upon the close of this meeting a War Memorial Exhibit in the basement of the town hall will be opened. A committee of which Major Wilder is chairman is hard at work collecting overseas war souvenirs, photos, pictures, etc. A regulation war trench will be dug in the ground outside the town hall and other realistic features will be on hand. The Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and other war organizations represented by townspeople will each be assigned space to make their exhibits. Souvenirs of all kinds are solicited by this committee. Please phone Major Wilder, and he will arrange details. This War Memorial Exhibit will be open afternoons and evenings through to Tuesday, Nov. 13.

For Sunday, November 11 the town committee has requested the pastors of the several churches and the superintendents of all Sunday schools to feature the anniversary as seems best to them. Sunday, at noon, we must not forget to observe the two-minute silence. A Community Religious Service will be held in the Auditorium at 3 p. m. Sunday. W. R. Moody will preside. The speaker will be Rev. Dr. Charles A. Brooks of Chicago, who saw service overseas. Northfield Seminary Vesper Choir will assist in the singing. Ex-service men and women and all women and all patriotic orders are invited to attend in uniform and as units, seats being reserved for them in front of the platform. Mr. Duley is in charge of plans for this service.

Monday evening at 7.45 the town hall will be the scene of a Community Anniversary Celebration. Charles A. Parker, chairman of the selectmen, will preside. The speaker will be James J. Mullen of Charlestown. Printed sheets giving wartime choruses will help us to sing ourselves hoarse under the leadership of Philip Porter and an orchestra. Lewis Wood of Northfield Farms will be marshal of the gathering, assisted by the Boy Scouts. Ex-service men and women and all patriotic orders are asked to be present once again in full regimentals. There will be a Roll Call of Northfield men and women who saw service during the war. Dr. Richard Holton is looking after the plans and program for this gathering.

Please Note Carefully
There will be no admission charges whatever. Everybody in town is expected to cooperate as fully as they can. Out of town visitors are of course welcome to all gatherings and to the exhibit.

A decorations committee consisting of Donald Finch, Mrs. Ross Spencer and Lewis Wood is elected to decorate the halls and school and to urge everybody to hang out their flags from Friday through Tuesday. Allied and service flags as well as the Stars and Stripes. Get your flags ready now. Miles Morgan is transportation officer, and will arrange for any who cannot provide their own transportation to get to the public meetings and the Exhibit.

The Library trustees have been requested to assemble a collection of war histories and stories, photos and pictures, so as to supply general information regarding the war.

All ex-service men and women residents in town who are not members of the Legion and Auxiliary are asked to make themselves known to Chairman Holton so that they shall not be overlooked.

Townspeople who worked on the Liberty loans, the draft board, and in other ways at home are also requested to communicate with Dr. Holton. Red Cross helpers will get in touch with Mrs. Dr. Wood, Y men and women with Rev. Ellis E. Jones. Are there any Knights of Columbus and Salvation Army war workers in town?

The Historical society is preparing a Book of Remembrance which will set down on paper all that Northfield did during the war. Mrs. C. C. Stearns will be glad of appropriate information for this.

In succeeding issues of The Press the committees will make further announcements.

This is not to be just a sensational and transient ballhoop, but an occasion for reviving the ideals and the deep emotions of the World War. Young people under 20 or so who were too young to understand about the war will have a chance to visualize what it meant as they attend the gatherings and inspect the Exhibit. Indeed, all of us will find much to learn and recall. And we shall come through with a deeper appreciation of what ex-service men and women did for our country in its time of need.

Hallowe'en Dance

There will be a Hallowe'en dance with all the appropriate decorations, favors and refreshments at the town hall, Northfield, on Tuesday, October 30, 8 to 12 under the auspices of the Community Social club. WILL YOU FIGHT THE EUROPEAN CORN BORER?

If so, either cut out this coupon, fill it in and mail it to us or send in your name and address as being for this fight, on a postal card or by letter. It is quite important that a goodly number publicly evidence their intention of working along these lines in order to get the thing put over in a big way; and unless it does go over in a big way, the fight for the stamping out of the European Corn Borer in Franklin County will be of scant avail. Every single name on record for this fight will be of great help. If YOU grow any corn, even if only a garden patch, we need YOU. And send along your name NOW.....TODAY.

BROWN DERBIES

Editor Was Still Alive (but not Still) at this Printing

Cambridge, Mass.,

October 22, 1928

Dear Editor:

When I saw my letter printed two weeks ago with the heading "What's It All About?" and when I heard several people say quietly and sympathetically something about the tragedy of insanity I began to wonder if after all the joke wasn't on me. Trembling, I hurried to my safety deposit box, went through my carefully-treasured copies of The Press, and surely to my relief that I had not made a mistake. Surely the most apt misprint I ever saw did not escape the attention of the editor! If it did, let him turn to the issue of Sept. 28th and notice how he is addressed in the letter on the front page from Mrs. LaBella, in which she describes the dreadful, dripping condition of Florida.

To the Transplanted Easterner, I doff my brown derby. He may be interested to know that I have had the pleasure of meeting him in the flesh. I am sorry that he has misunderstood me a little. I wouldn't for the world have our dear dead editor support Smith against his convictions. I was trying to demonstrate the futility of his supporting Hoover. The editorial policy of The Press could not change more than two voters from Smith to Hoover, because there are not two readers of The Press who are for Smith and who are broadminded enough to be convinced that Hoover is the better man. Investigation will show that the Republican Party, with all its wealth, is unwilling to pay more than five or six dollars for a vote. Surely all the space devoted to demonstrations of Hoover's supernatural ability and experience is worth much more than ten or twelve dollars to The Press.

Now I may not be a Phi Beta Kappa man, or a summa cum laude, like my poor misguided friend, Mr. Bryant, but, thanks to the training of the Northfield High school and more particularly of Miss MacDonald, I know enough Latin to be able to propose a motto for The Tri-State Weekly. For a long time it has been the guiding principle of its editorial policy, and it deserves to be recognized as such. It is: "Post Hoc, Ergo Propter Hoc." I suggest that the editor cause that motto to be printed in large letters on placards and that they be posted at strategic points throughout the editorial rooms, or lest at any time an editorial writer forget that that must be the guiding principle of his logic.

For an example may I quote from an editorial in this week's issue. "We know this, too, about the tariff: The pay roll for those of us who work for a living in this country is $600,000,000 a week. . . . And we know also that this would not be possible without a Republican protective tariff." If you know all this, you know more about it than most of the men who have given their life to a study of the question. The head of the Tariff Commission during the World War, who knows as much about the question as anyone, is for Smith. He has no regular party affiliations.

I resent the one-sided attitude of The Press. It seems to agree with that sweet sentiment of Senator Fess, who said words to the effect that never before in our history have we been fortunate enough to have all the forces of righteousness and intelligence on one side of a political contest and all other. It must be terrifying to some people to realize that there are a few intelligent persons for Smith. Although I know one or two myself.

To Mr. Bryant's prayer that we may all realize that there is no threat of Rum and Romanism I add my fervent Amen; but I think that he will agree with me that it will be largely due to this popular misconception of Governor Smith's character that Mr. Hoover will owe his election.

The Transplanted Easterner wants to know with what I am dripping. With water, milk, Coca Cola and perspiration.

Yours,

A Dreadful Dripping Democrat.
P. S.—I have a fine stock of brown derbies of varying sizes and quality. If any reader is unable to obtain one, let him apply to our dear dead editor, who I am sure, will be glad to tell him how to get in touch with me; and I know I shall be glad to give him price lists and complete information.

THE SHIP THAT WAS A NAVY

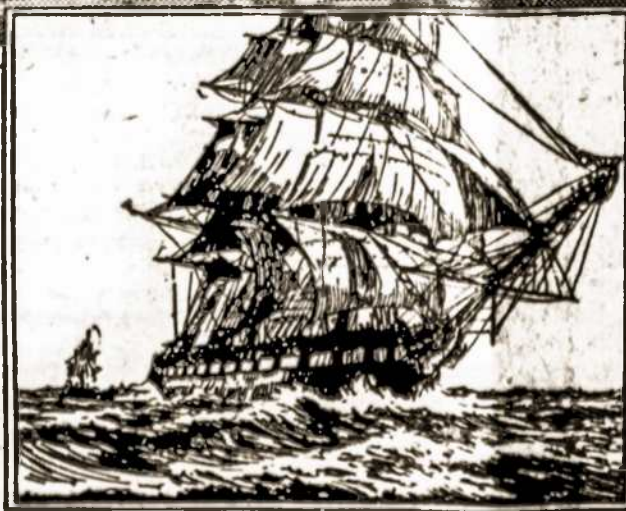

Giant Beams of White Oak Make "Old Ironsides" Anew

ARCHITECTS and builders throughout the country have long been familiar with the beauty and durability of oak floors. Architects know that the interior decorations and furniture are enhanced by floors of oak, with their rich, warm glow.

Builders, with an eye to the practical, recommend their installation not only because they add materially to the sale value of the home, but because they will last as long as the home itself.

Recently, the durability of American oak was graphically illustrated. By popular subscription money was raised to rebuild the famous frigate Constitution. The American public was not willing that "Old Ironsides," with her glamorous naval history, should become a memory.

When the Constitution was placed in dry dock at the Boston Navy Yard it was found that time, more than enemy shot and shell, had played havoc with her woodwork—with everything except oak. Up to the time of the launching of the "ship that was a navy" no nation had ever used live oak in shipbuilding. Today, as the work of rebuilding the famous frigate goes on, it was found that only about 12 per cent of the original ship existed; all the rest has been restored at various times. Only the live oak, forming the backbone of the vessel, has kept her together and made it possible to restore and rebuild her. Paul Revere, who wrote to the Secretary of War that he could furnish them "as cheap as any one," supplied the copper bolts and spikes which held the oak backbone in place.

And now oak again is to be used in making the Constitution anew. Just as the best materials obtainable were placed in "Old Ironsides"

Installing Beam Seasoned Under Water For Seventy Years

by her original builders, so the same materials will be used in restoring the hull. It happened that in Commodore's Pond, Pensacola, many tons of live oak had been submerged for use in building wooden frigates. The war that freed the slaves, who gathered this wood saw the passing of the wooden fighting ship. These great beams, stored away for nearly 70 years, have been shipped to Boston. To date 1,605 large pieces of oak, weighing nearly a ton apiece, have been received at the navy yard.

Admiral Philip Andrews, in charge of the work of reconstruction, is asking the public to subscribe $240,000 more to finish the work of rebuilding the famous ship. When she is completed it is planned to sail her to every large American port.

Chapped Hands

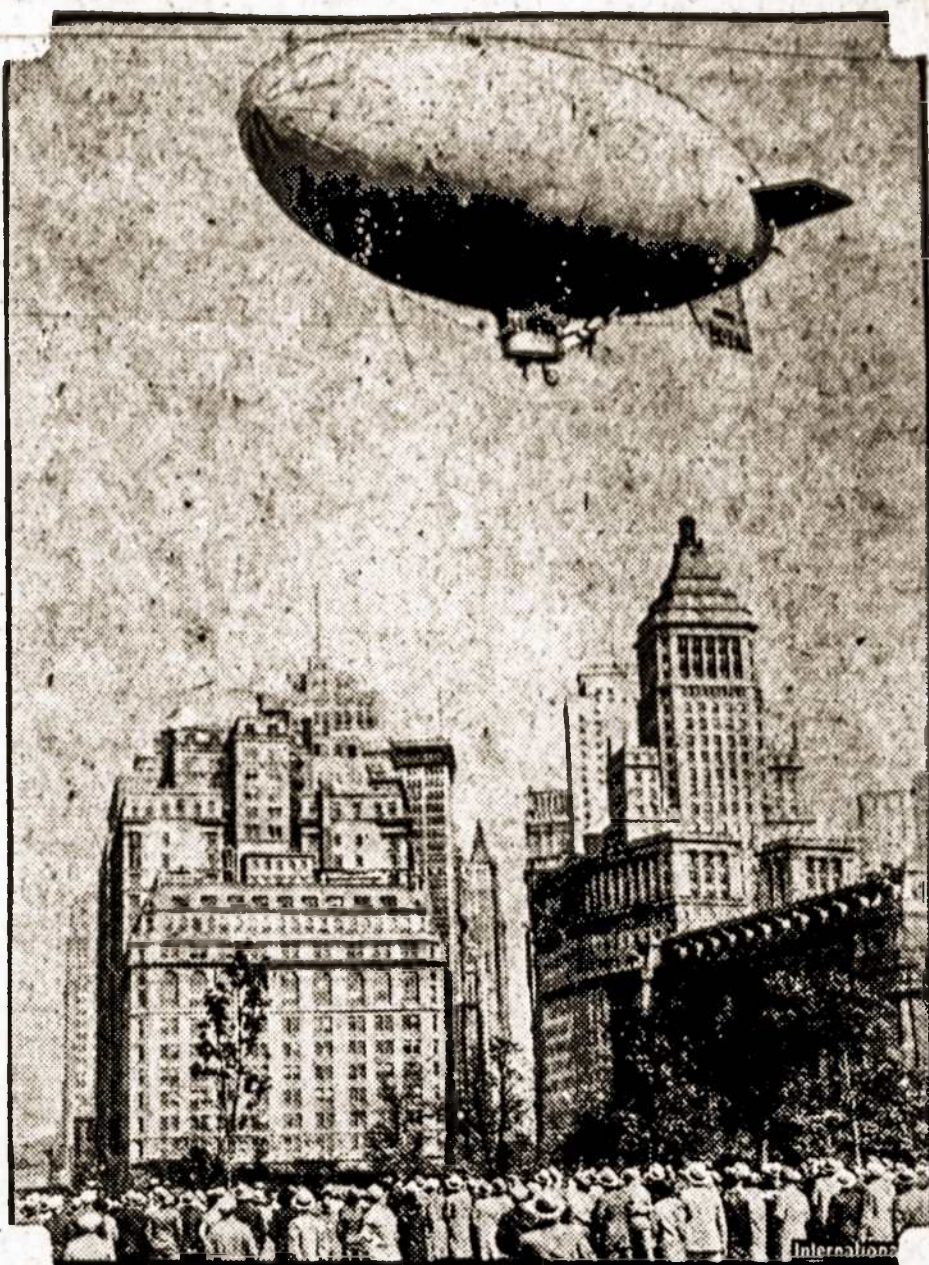

by Sylvia Stafford

Hands which are chapped are not attractive and far from comfortable. Chapping of the skin is due entirely to external causes, and many women who have their hands in and out of water find difficulties in keeping them in the good condition necessary. Often the skin is thin and easily roughened by changes in temperature—more often a poor grade of household or toilet soap is the cause. A soap which contains a great deal of lye or caustic dissolves all the natural oil in the skin which then becomes dry and rough. Continued use of such soaps will even cause the skin to "crack" which really means that three or more layers of skin dry and peel down to the sensitive skin under which lie the tiny nourishing blood capillaries. When this skin becomes devoid of natural oil the blood comes through leaving the surface of the hands sore and bleeding; or rough and tender in mild cases of chapping.

All this is quite needless if care is taken and a little experimenting is done to find what soap agrees best with the user's skin.

When this has been decided the next thing is to see that all soap is rinsed from the hands every time it is used, and added to this be sure that the hands are dried thoroughly—not half dried. Usually this treatment is enough but for a very thin skin it is well to rub into the skin a good cold cream or some olive oil two or three times a day (when the hands are dry) wiping the surplus off with a soft dry cloth.

Washing the hands carefully, before retiring at night, with oatmeal or cornmeal will add much to the softness and smoothness of the skin and also help to keep them white and flexible. The comfort you get is well worth the little time it takes to keep your hands from chapping.

P. S.—Sylvia Stafford will answer any beauty questions which are sent through this paper.

A Contest of Liars

A Grange in Oregon, staged a unique form of entertainment designed to put the abilities of the members severely to a test. Without any previous announcement the one in charge of the program informed the members that everyone present would be expected to relate the most improbable occurrence which they possibly concocted, and that a prize would be offered to "the greatest liar" present. A brief interim was allowed for the members to gather their thoughts and then the "incidents" were related. Both men and women competed and one of the former won!

Boston Food Fair

The Boston Food Fair and Household Appliance Exposition will be held this year during the week of October 29 in Mechanics building and Friday, November 2 will be New England day or more properly speaking Bean Day, as the management has decided on the change.

Necessity has been the mother of the invention of many good things and the mothers of New England invented the baked bean beside their own firesides because of the need of a dish for their families that was at the same time nourishing, filling and pleasant to the taste. The long process of baking the bean gave them time for their other week-end household duties without any slight to the Saturday evening meal at which every member of the family was sure to be present. In time the baking of the bean became a family rite, second only to the Sunday morning attendance at meeting.

This year the management of the Boston Food Fair has turned over the management of its Demonstration Kitchen and Cooking school to the Boston School of Culinary Art, which generally speaking, does not deal extensively with the bean in any form, but when the news reached Boston that the baked bean had been assailed Mr. Garland decided that all fancy dishes could be set aside for one day in favor of New England's time honored home staple.

The cooking school will be well worth visiting more than once. There will be demonstrations by K. Camille Den Dooven, principal of the Boston School of Culinary Art, in the mysteries of candy making, French pastry making and cake decorating. There will be a day devoted to the entertainment of the Retail Grocers association who make the fair possible. There will be many desirable presents for those who come early every day.

There will be a day upon which the Boston Hotel association will be invited and for their entertainment there will be in the evening a lecture on Three Centuries of New England Hospitality which will show the growth of the New England Tavern from its earliest history up to the present day sky scraper and also emphasizing the importance of this one industry on the growth, transportation, art, romance and history of our country.

There will be educational motion pictures all day every day showing the wonderful sanitary plants in which our present day foods are manufactured.

GIANT TOWN MEETING

Thousand New England Leaders to Be in Convention

The official call that will bring a thousand of New England's leaders to a great, all New England town meeting—the Fourth New England Conference, to be held in Portland, Me., Nov. 15-16—has gone out. Invitations to the Conference have been mailed, and registration of delegates representing associations and organizations, associate members of the Council, and other conferees is proceeding rapidly.

The keynote of this year's Conference will be the presentation of a plan by which New England's assets and advantages can be "sold" to the rest of the country. Among prominent persons expected to be present are the Governors of all six New England states, senators, representatives and business leaders of nation-wide prominence who will be speakers on the program.

At the first general session, scheduled for Thursday afternoon, Nov. 15, a review of progress made by New England since the Third New England Conference a year ago, and the presentation of a "Sales Plan for New England" will be the chief features. Economic progress in New England will be discussed at separate state meetings that evening, each meeting preceded by a dinner which the Governor of that state has been invited to attend. Each state will also, at this time, hold a business meeting for the purpose of electing Council members for the coming year.

Progress in New England's three major industries—agriculture, recreation and manufacturing—will be the subject of discussion at group conferences which will meet in separate sessions Friday morning.

The Conference will be brought to a close with a second general session on Friday afternoon, at which resolutions and other results of the separate meetings will be reported.

The Governors have been invited to meet the New England Council in executive session on Thursday morning, at the conclusion of which Governor Brewster of Maine will entertain the Governors at luncheon.

PICTURE OF PEACE

The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; and the calf and the young lion and the fawning together: and a little child shall lead them.—Isaiah 11:6.

WHAT WE NEED

Standing beside the grave of the Unknown Soldier President Coolidge said:

"We do not need more national development;

We need more spiritual development. We do not need more intellectual power;

We need more spiritual power. We do not need more knowledge;

We need more character. We do not need more government;

We need more culture. We do not need more law;

We need more religion. We do not need more of the things that are seen;

We need more of the things that are unseen."

LITERARY DIGEST POLL

The great poll of the Literary Digest has now reached more than 2,527,000 votes, and gives over 1,593,000 for Hoover and 911,000 for Smith—a ratio of 63% for Hoover and 36% for Smith, with 1% for the minor candidates.

The proved significance of the Literary Digest Poll should be borne in mind. Four years ago, a similar poll of the Literary Digest indicated that Coolidge would receive 56-plus per cent. of the country's total vote, and he actually did receive 55-plus per cent. It also indicated that Coolidge would carry 35 states, Davis 12 and LaFollette 1, and Coolidge did carry 35 states, Davis 12, and LaFollette 1.

Hoover!

On the sixth of November, oh, loyal voter,
 Hasten to your poll booth and help out the quota,
 To elect a patriot Man!
 No vision of glory, no greed has bought him,
 But to the call of the people that sought him,
 He measured a Dignified man!

Chorus
 Untrammelled by party, with cheers loud and hearty,
 Come out from your doldrums—and see!—for you can—
 No trick or maneuver, in Hoover! in Hoover!
 The true-hearted, brainy and competent Man!

Tho' honored by Kings and loved by the people,
 He dallies not near the loud ringing steeple,
 But goes on his Hooverish way.
 Nor would he barter for love or for money,
 His allegiance to U. S. A.

Untrammelled by party, with cheers loud and hearty,
 Come out from your doldrums—and see!—for you can—
 No trick or maneuver, in Hoover! in Hoover!
 The true-hearted, brainy and competent Man!

You know he's kept pace with statesmen and scholars,
 Has paid out a hundred million of dollars—
 Not a penny has stuck to his hand—
 With marvelous skill, he fed starving nations,
 Has filled "to the full", many difficult stations—
 His manhood has honored the land!

Untrammelled by party, with cheers loud and hearty,
 Come out from your doldrums—and see!—for you can—
 No trick or maneuver, in Hoover! in Hoover!
 The true-hearted, brainy and competent Man!

The Antique Craze

More and more persons seem to be joining the already vast number who have the antique craze. They are becoming more interested in old furniture, clocks, dishes, vases, coverlets, jewelry, and in fact in anything really old. They are beginning to read all about antiques, buying books, going to the public library, or sending to state book commission, or to their state university library for books on this subject and are much interested in the three periods of American furniture.

A man went into a shop to buy an Al Smith pin, but the looks of the donkey was too much for him. He came out wearing an elephant.

ed to do this refinishing themselves, but it is a slow tedious job best given to professional refinishers.

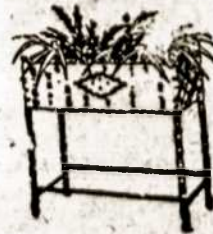

Fingerprints and dirt on old furniture, however, can be safely removed by the use of borax powder in the wash water and even on painted wood will be found to do the work quicker and without injury to the paint. Those who have become especially interested in the old tables such as the gate-leg, pie-crust, card, and butterfly tip-top have found these among the much sought after tables and are consequently hard to find.

NEW SERVICES

John Wilson & Co. Are Adding to Their Offerings

In keeping with their established custom of giving to the people of Greenfield and vicinity extra service and help the Wilson Store has instituted two new services. The Personal Shopping Service under the direction of Nancy Brewster will do for you that shopping which you may find it inconvenient to do in person.

By calling 700 and asking for the personal shopper or writing to Miss Nancy Brewster in care of John Wilson and Company and explaining what you want you will command the services of an experienced shopper who will gladly go to the various departments and personally select the things for which you ask with as much interest as she would use were she seeking something for her own home. She will shop as discriminatingly and painstakingly as you yourself would and will see that the things you want are properly packed and sent to you without delay. No matter how small your need, no matter how long your list you will find that Miss Brewster will give you personal individual service. And you can make use of this service as often as you choose knowing that there is no obligation involved and that there is no charge for this help.

The Decorating Service is made possible by the addition to the staff of an experienced Interior Decorator. He will gladly come to your home if you wish him to do so and take the needed measurements to permit him to give you accurate quotations on any decorating program you may wish to consider. If you so choose he will suggest a decorative plan that will cover new floor covering, rugs and draperies. If you wish only to get a rug that will best serve your needs he will help you in that problem, too. He will suggest a complete set up for your consideration or will work just as faithfully to follow out any scheme which you yourself may have formulated.

Milking Machines

Do cows like milking machines? This question, which has occurred to many farmers and has been frequently argued around many farm hearthstones, is answered authoritatively by C. H. Eccles, a well known agricultural teacher and dairying expert, in the current issue of Farm and Fireside. He finds that cows prefer the modern machine method of milking to the old fashioned way.

The milking machine, it seems, is not a new invention. Professor Eccles saw two different types at the Iowa State Fair in 1895. Another machine which used a 10 horse-power motor; he operated for a year on his experimental farm in 1910.

It is only in recent years, however, that the milking machine has reached its present thoroughly practical form, and today the use of mechanical milkers is more general than most people realize. In many localities more than half the farmers are using them, and throughout the country more than one-third of the successful dairymen have them.

Some users have been dissatisfied and have quit using milkers. But Professor Eccles finds that there are so many satisfied users that he believes the failures are due to the user and not to the machine. Many farmers say that they would long ago have quit the dairying business if they had to go back to hand milking. Professor Eccles, at least, is satisfied that the cows invariably prefer mechanical milking.

Civil Service Exams

The United States Civil Service Commission announce the second examination for agents under the Bureau of Prohibition. The examination held last year failed to furnish a sufficient number of eligibles for many of the prohibition districts. The new examination will be held throughout the county to supply the shortage of eligibles and to provide a register from which vacancies occurring later may be filled. Applications for the examination will be received by the Civil Service Commission until November 20.

The entrance salaries for agents range from $2,300 to $2,800 a year. As the Bureau of Prohibition states that it will be its policy to fill the positions of investigator and inspector by promotion, persons desiring appointment to those positions should enter the agent examination. Applicants must have reached their twenty-third but not their fifty-seventh birthday on the date of examination. These age limits do not apply to persons entitled to preference because of military or naval service. The Bureau of Prohibition states that men are desired for the positions.

The examination will consist of mental tests, practical reports based on the duties of the position, and a rating on training, experience and fitness. Those who do not meet the minimum experience requirement will not be admitted to the written test. Those who qualify in the written part of the examination will be called for a personal interview and will be subject to a further investigation of their fitness. The fingerprints of all applicants who are investigated will be taken and will be used to check the accuracy of the applicants' statements as to arrest, indictment, or conviction for crime or misdemeanor.

Full information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board at the post office or customhouse in any city.

It Will Pay YOU to have a Standing Card in

This SHOPPING DIRECTORY

so that YOUR NAME and BUSINESS will be printed each and every week; and then, when the occasions warrant you can do Special Advertising elsewhere in the paper, so as to steadily build up and develop your business. This standing card in the Directory is just what it is called and is valuable in itself, but it is not Advertising, in the real meaning of the word.

Moreover, we do not accept any larger space for it than two inches; nor do we accept it from any advertiser who is not personally known to us.

The cost is $3.00 per inch for three months (13 insertions) payable quarterly; $6.00 for two inch space for three months (13 insertions) payable quarterly.

It is a mighty good opportunity for the ones who can qualify at this time to get some systematic and economical publicity.

Several of our contemporaries have been worrying about how a kiss will sound in the "talkies." Being no authority on kissing, we shan't enter the controversy except to say that when one of our dear old aunts used to come to our home for a visit and the family lined up for the osculatory greeting she sounded like one of these bathroom suction pumps in full action.

(Ben Hibbs in Arkansas City Traveler.)
Ham Berger is able to enter into this discussion with authoritative testimony. He saw—or heard—a long drawn out kiss in the talkie movies the other night and it sounded like an angel feather falling on a soap bubble. Thus children, we may be able to note the modern improvements over the way Ben Hibbs' aunts used to do it.

The Christmas Issue of

"The Tri-State Weekly"
 The Northfield Press

will be supplemental to regular issue of
 FRIDAY, DECEMBER 14th

As in previous years it will have a cover in colors and in addition to the regular twelve pages, there will be a section of twenty or more pages devoted exclusively to the joys of Christmas, in picture, song and story.

For the convenience of the many who like to make a gift of an annual subscription to this paper to others, we have prepared an attractive card, in colors, stating that at the direction of (blank space for writing in your name) we have entered your name upon our list for a year's subscription to "The Tri-State Weekly" The Northfield Press, and that we hope that the copies we shall have the pleasure of sending you each week, in addition to their local interest, will prove to be a pleasant reminder of the friend who sends you this holiday remembrance. This card we mail to your friend under letter postage.

In order that such gift subscriptions may start with our Christmas Issue, we suggest that we should receive orders for such as soon as possible and at any rate not later than the first week of December. This is necessary from the fact that the edition will be limited to the number of colored covers which we have already ordered. Our supply ran several hundred short of the demand last year. We are giving early notice this year in the hope that by doing so we will not have to disappoint a single friend.

all questions in a very illuminating way. He seemed to think that there was little doubt but what we would have quarantine on in Franklin county this winter, unless most radical steps in the clean-up line were taken. It may not be generally understood that such quarantine would apply to almost every other growing thing, and would not just be on corn; so that the outlook for both farmers and market-gardeners is not so pleasant.

Evening Auxiliary

The fact that twenty-seven members came out last Friday evening, October 19 at an early hour of seven o'clock, is evidence that there is a lively interest in the meetings of the Evening Auxiliary. After the devotions which were led by Miss Ethel M. Moody, the study of the second chapter of the book "Friends of Africa" was taken up by leaders for the evening.

At the close of the meeting each member was given a list of books to be used in the Reading Contest. Miss Fanny Hatch captains the Reds, and Miss Alice Munde is leading the Blues. Points are gained by the members of the society only, and such books as Dan Crawford's "Thinking Black", Wm. J. Blake's "Personal Life of David Livingstone", E. Stanley Jones' "Christ at the Round Table" and W. P. Livingstone's "Mary Slessor of Calabar" are on the list.

Mr. Dunbar Takes Up the Cudgels for Democratic Party

Brooklyn, N. Y.,
 October 20, 1928

My dear Editor:
 I have read with interest your editorial today "Working People and the Tariff."

The only inference I can draw from this editorial is that if Mr. Hoover is elected the wage earners will receive one hundred per cent of their present wages, but if Mr. Smith is elected, judging by previous tariff policies of the Democratic party, wage earners should be prepared for a possible reduction in their wages even to the extent of twenty per cent. If this would be the natural inference, I ask you if it is not a false inference when it is remembered that the Democratic platform pledged a tariff that will protect the American wage earner in maintaining the present American living standard, and when the Democratic candidate says that the American wage earner will not have a nickel taken from his pay envelope as a result of any Democratic change in the tariff.

I wish you would publish this criticism and follow it with your own comment.

Very truly yours,

John G. Dunbar.
 Editor's Note—Always glad to publish the other fellow's side but don't care to comment in this instance.
